

Dr Ejike Robert Udeogu is an Assistant Professor of Economics at Coventry Business School. He is also the director of UG Economics at the School of Economics, Finance and Accounting. Prior to joining Coventry University, he was the director of the MBA programme at the University of East London from 2020 to 2021 and the BSc (Hons) Economics course director from 2016 to 2019. Before turning to academia, Dr Ejike worked as a Policy Analyst for over two years in the public sector (2006-2008) and was part of the leadership team in a Fortune 500 company for over four years (2009-2013). He holds a bachelor's degree in mathematics and economics, a master's degree in financial management, and a doctorate degree in Political Economy. He is a Senior Fellow of the Higher Education Academy, a Fellow of the Chartered Management Institute, and an Affiliate of the Chartered Institute for Securities and Investment.

His research interests are in the areas of globalisation and economic development, the macroeconomic role of institutions, institutional change, and structural transformation. He is committed to supporting evidence-based policymaking in Africa and has published a few research articles in peer-reviewed academic journals to that effect.

Google scholar profile