

Jordanka Galeva was born on July 7, 1977, in Skopje, Macedonia. She completed her higher education at Alma Mater Studiorum University of Bologna, Italy. She graduated from the Faculty of Political Science (Robert Ruffilli in Forli) in international politics, earning the title of Bachelor of Political Science and Master of Politology. She also obtained a master's degree in economics of cooperation from the Faculty of Economics. Her doctoral studies in International Cooperation and Sustainable Development Policies were completed at the same university Alma Mater Studiorum, in consortium with the University of Pisa.

During her stay in Italy, she worked as a language and social mediator. Upon returning to Macedonia, she was engaged as a lecturer at several universities. Currently, she is employed at the Faculty of Law, Goce Delcev University, Stip, where she teaches courses in the fields of international relations and geopolitics. She actively participates in numerous international conferences and has published scientific works on topics related to geopolitics, multiculturalism, and minority rights.

<https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=vJQNvUoAAAAJ&hl=it>